Dear Intelliware,

I am very excited to hear about the software developer internship program that you are offering at Intelliware. I met some of you colleague at the #IWDTO #DevTO event on March 6th. and was pleasantly surpised to learn about your intership program for newly graduates.

As a new full stack web developer (bitmaker.co) I found problem solving skills (when paired with coding techniques) a challenging brain fitness.

As a designer I have the advantage of using my hybrid of experiences in design and technology to make products that promise to solve real life problems.

As I am starting my career in software development it is crucial to work hard, learn fast and be deligent about surrounding oneself with talented group of thinkers, developers, and problem solvers.

I strongly believe learning and growing are at the core of any successful company such as Intelliware and I want to be a part of that.

Best,

Kathy Toufighi
